B113B. Please indicate the source of the data used to answer question B11:
Belgian Health Interview Survey 2013: https://his.wiv-isp.be/fr/sitepages/rapports_complets_2013.aspx
B114[SQ001]. Please provide the definitions of “current smoker”, “daily smoker”, “occasional smoker”, “former smoker” and “never smoker” used in this report. [Current smoker]
Current smokers are those who report having smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lifetime (or equivalent amount of tobacco) and who currently smoke daily or occasionally
B114[SQ002]. Please provide the definitions of “current smoker”, “daily smoker”, “occasional smoker”, “former smoker” and “never smoker” used in this report. [Daily smoker]
Daily smokers are those who report having smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lifetime (or equivalent amount of tobacco) and who currently smoke daily

B114[SQ003]. Please provide the definitions of “current smoker”, “daily smoker”, “occasional smoker”, “former smoker” and “never smoker” used in this report. [Occasional smoker]
Occasional smokers are those who report having smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lifetime (or equivalent amount of tobacco) and who currently smoke occasionally

B114[SQ004]. Please provide the definitions of “current smoker”, “daily smoker”, “occasional smoker”, “former smoker” and “never smoker” used in this report. [Former smoker]
Former smokers are those who report having smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lifetime (or equivalent amount of tobacco) and who do not smoke nowadays

B114[SQ005]. Please provide the definitions of “current smoker”, “daily smoker”, “occasional smoker”, “former smoker” and “never smoker” used in this report. [Never smoker]
Never smokers are those who declare that they have never smoked up to 100 cigarettes (or equivalent amount of tobacco) in their entire lifetime

B115. Please provide a brief explanation of the trend in smoking prevalence in the adult population in the past two years or since submission of your last report.
Results from the Health Interview Survey (HIS) conducted in 2013 show a slight decline in the prevalence of current smokers (23%) as regard the 2008 HIS (25%). This trend is due to a decrease in the relative number of daily smokers (19% in 2013 against 21% in 2008) as opposed to a stable percentage of occasional smokers (4% both years). Globally, these figures confirm the steady descending trends in smoking prevalence observed since the first HIS was carried out in 1997 (30% current smokers and 26% daily smokers).
As for gender differences, the decrease in smoking prevalence (current and daily) between 2008 and 2013 was greater among men (e.g. 29% vs. 26% current smokers) than among women (21% vs. 20% current smokers).
The mean number of cigarettes smoked daily has remained stable in time (16 units on both survey years), and this in men (17 units) and women (15 units).

B12[B12a_B12x1]. Smoking prevalence in the adult population (by age groups) (If data are available, please provide prevalence data by age group, and identify the age group considered, preferably by 10-year categories, e.g. 25-34, 35-44 years) [MALES - current smokers1][Range - start age]
15

B12[B12a_B12x3]. Smoking prevalence in the adult population (by age groups) (If data are available, please provide prevalence data by age group, and identify the age group considered, preferably by 10-year categories, e.g. 25-34, 35-44 years) [MALES - current smokers1][Range - end age]
24

B12[B12a_B12x2]. B122B. Please indicate the source of the data used to answer question B12:

Belgian Health Interview Survey, 2013

B123. Please provide a brief explanation of the trend in current smoking prevalence by age group in the past two years or since submission of your last report, if data are available.

Compared to the previous survey in 2008, results from the 2013 survey show a decline in current smokers among young men aged 15-24 years (29% in 2008 vs. 21% in 2013) and a slight increase among young women of the same age (20% in 2008 vs. 22% in 2008). As a result, in 2013 there was no longer any gender difference in smoking prevalence among the 15 to 24-year-olds.

In the age group 25-34 years, a decline in prevalence of current smokers was observed among women (24% in 2008 vs. 20% in 2013), but not among men (34% in 2008 and 33% in 2013).

Between 2008 and 2013, smoking prevalence dropped in both men and women aged 45-54 years (in total 33% to 27%), and increased among both men and women aged 55-64 years (total 21% in 2008 and 26% in 2013).

B162B. Please indicate the source of the data used to answer question B16:
Belgian Health Interview Survey, 2013- Health Behaviour in School-aged Children (HBSC) survey, 2014 - SIPES (French Community of Belgium)

B163. Please provide the definition of "current smoking/tobacco use" used to answer question B16 in the space below.
Current smokers are those who report having smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lifetime (or equivalent amount of tobacco) and who currently smoke daily or occasionally. Smokeless tobacco is not included – not common in Belgium. Current smokers are considered as daily smokers for the HBSC data

B164. Please provide a brief explanation of the trend in tobacco use by young persons in the past two years or since submission of your last report.

Due to small numbers, prevalence by age group in the young are given as an indication (95% confidence intervals are wide!) but comparisons are not advised. The trend of the evolution of the standard proportion is going down (13,2% in 2010 and 8,7% in 2014) – HBSC data

WALLONIA:

Wallonia has set up a " Walloon Plan without Tobacco" since 2004: this plan brings together health professionals to increase awareness, information and training of professional actors related to tobacco. Every three years, an action plan is put in place to determine the objectives and priority groups.

Then, Wallonia has a legal framework to recognize and fund networks, support and specialized care in addiction services, which include tobacco-related actions; These networks coordinate activities within their local territory.

Since 1 January 2016, Wallonia has also competence on the promotion and the prevention of health, all in the context of a new agency dedicated to Health, Welfare, Disability and Families: this circumstances result in the establishment of cross-cutting measures centers on the needs and expectations of citizens, including as regards tobacco.

FLANDERS:

School aged children remain an important target group, but in addition to primary prevention (not starting) we also developed strategies and methodologies to reach pupils and students who have already started smoking. Research indicates that a considerable proportion of this group considers stopping, and we know that, as a whole, they are not as addicted as more mature groups, so stopping is easier. They get support via online app's, personal advice and training from professionals, as well as peer support.

BRUSSELS (COCOF - COCOM)

A health promotion framework 2018-2022 has been adopted by the French-speaking Government in 2017. One of the priorities addresses healthy lifestyles: promotion of healthy food, physical activity, reduction of alcohol and tobacco consumption.

The strategy concerning tobacco is mainly targeting young people (11-24yo), educators, health professionals and parents in their different life or professional settings. It is based on an empowering approach including information, awareness-raising and training. Social health inequalities are taken into account in the strategy through a focus on disadvantaged population.

Campaigns promoting smoking cessation are spread through local TV and radio channels thanks to a legal free of charge system of provision of health promotion ads.

Since the 6th Belgian State Reform, the Common Community Commission (COCOM-GGC) is competent regarding tobacco cessation, among others concerning the funding of tobacco consultations. There was no change during the last two years concerning the policy carried out by the Common Community Commission (COCOM-GGC) in this field - this policy remains at this stage unmodified.
